INTRODUCTION

In presenting our tenth annual catalogue, we wish to thank our customers for their liberal support in the past and to say that we will do our best to deserve a still greater demand for our plants in the future.

We list one of the largest collections in the United States, thoroughly up-to-date, all of the Well’s Pockett, Totty Sets, and also the best of other English, American and French growers. We take particular pride in having an immense stock of plants grown under conditions that we have found the best for ’mums on the Pacific Coast. Growing our stock plants in the open air, we do not have to propagate from spindly, weedy cuttings, but can choose robust ones. Many of the prizes in the open classes at the last Pasadena show and nearly all the prizes in the amateur classes were won with flowers grown on plants procured from us.

Last year we called attention to the care we take to have our plants true to name. Every plant when put out is labeled and when in flower if it does not show the correct characteristics it is pulled up and thrown away, so that it is almost impossible to make mistakes.

TERMS OF SALE

Shipments commence April fifteenth. All plants are from two inch pots, unless otherwise agreed. Orders from unknown parties should be accompanied by cash or satisfactory reference.

I give no warranty on the plants. If for any reason the plants are received in poor shape, please notify me at once, so the trouble can be located.

ALL ORDERS WILL BE FILLED IN ROTATION—Six of a kind at the dozen rate unless otherwise quoted.

We list the largest collection on the Pacific Coast. All plants are sand rooted cuttings. Our field will be open for public inspection October 10.

MUM is like a rose or geranium; it will stand a lot of neglect and make some sort of a return, but if you want show blooms they must have the best of treatment, and the best is none too good. Again, a mum must be grown all the year around, as soon as the flower withers the stem should be cut off close to the ground and the soil well cultivated to insure a good strong lot of cuttings for next season, for no one can grow show blooms from stock plants healed in any old out-of-the-way place or choked with weeds. We do not believe in divided roots or Irishman's cuttings, as they are generally called, because cuttings that have been rooted in good, clean sand under cool treatment that have been potted off in not larger than two and a half-inch pots, in which they should be kept only long enough to get established, will give the best results all the time, and every time both to the disseminator and the grower. The best possible soil is a heavy chocolate loam, the heavier the better. Adobe is also good; they like something the roots can cling to or grip, not run through without touching, as it were. With the heavy soil we get more substance and better color. In preparing the soil, plow or fork deep; the deeper the better, so long as no poor subsoil is brought to the surface. A mum is a shallow rooter, but with deep cultivation there is a chance, if the plants are given too much water, for some of it to drain away. Some folks think a mum is an aquatic plant. Our plants get water when they want it. Sometimes once every two or three days or once a week, but oftner every... two weeks. Keep the ground moist, not wet. It has always been our rule to make the rows two feet apart, and the plants one foot apart in the rows.
This gives plenty of room to get between to remove side shoots, tie up, dis-bud and cultivate, etc., besides the plants do not draw so badly as when planted close together. Don’t plant too deep; leave a basin around each; press the soil carefully around the roots and give a generous amount of water to settle the soil. For the first week we water each plant with a watering can, according to their several needs. Afterward with a hoe we cut a small trench along each side of the row, letting the water from a hose run in slowly, and then cultivating. Except for the dwarf sorts we shall use from three to five rows of wire. Wire is best when the rows are not too long. For the dwarf sorts a stake made from a split shake is good to tie to, but early planted ones will grow taller and want longer supports than later ones. After the plants are well established, mulching with cow manure is a good fertilizer—in fact, the very best; but don’t overdo it. This is where the expert has the advantage. He can tell by the feel of the leaves and the look of his plants when they have had enough, when a little more of another sort would be beneficial, or when to leave well enough alone. But the novice will often find that by overdoing it, is it a question of more haste and less speed. Most of the buds will need to be taken not earlier than August 5th nor later than September 15th. This applies to Pasadena, but interior places or near the coast should vary slightly. The early flowering Singles, Hardy Pompons, Anemone Pompons and New Japanese Pompons are likely to be even more popular than the exhibition varieties, and we shall propagate over fifty thousand of the best varieties to meet this demand, and the Flower Shows will also offer prizes for them.

One of the important features of successful growing of Mums is taking the correct bud at the correct time. It is impractical to attempt an explanation of how to take the different buds in writing; we take, on some varieties, first crown or second crown and on other varieties the terminal bud. With every order we send a guide, with name, color and when to take bud for the best results on this coast. Should there be any difficulty in the manner of disbudding, we shall be glad to demonstrate the correct process in our field.
All Thomas Muns carry the Thomas label; none are guaranteed without it.
